

Internorga without Gastros Switzerland

Gastros Switzerland, the Swiss quality company for induction-based solutions for keeping food warm, has decided with a heavy heart not to participate in this year's Internorga 22.

Internorga Hamburg

For a long time, the organisation of this year's Internorga in Hamburg was in question. Gastros Switzerland AG has also thought about holding the fair during the current epidemic situation caused by Covid-19 and the currently rampant Omikron wave. Although the fair has not been cancelled, but postponed to Saturday, 30 April - 04 May 2022, we have decided not to participate as an exhibitor this year.

We are thus joining the decision of several "anchor exhibitors" who have also cancelled their participation. Because of this and because of the still existing Covid 19 names in many places, we expect a smaller and also more local audience, which is why at the end of the day the effort is too great a risk for us.

We wish all participants lots of fun and good health and look forward to presenting our expanded product portfolio at our stand this year at the FHA HoReCA, which will take place in Singapore from 25 - 28 October 2022, and of course next year at the Internorga in March 2023, and to welcoming our valued customers, partners, media representatives and other visitors in person once again. We will be presenting innovative, efficient induction modules for keeping food warm and cooking. These devices are available both as mobile tabletop and as built-in variants for flush-mounted installation and, in the case of the warming modules, even as a completely invisible undercounter variant.
